What is a Quartermania: a cross between an auction and a raffle, where you (the guest) "bid" quarters to win a prize of goods. When you check in and register you will pick up a check in bag that has a paddle with a number that is used for your individual bidding on the items you want to win. There is a chip that matches that number and it is placed in the "Chip Bucket". The Auctioneer has a numbered chip for each paddle issued at registration, to draw the winning number for each item. The auctioneer then begins by holding up a product and tells a little about the highlights along with the bid amount. Bids range from 1 to 4 quarters. If you would like to bid on that item, you put the corresponding number of quarters in the collection tin. THEN HOLD UP YOUR PADDLE(s) and wait for your numbers to be called! When your lucky number is called and you have placed a bid, you WIN that item! Each Item all chips are returned to the Chip Bucket for the next item. Quarters are picked up after each Vendor Item Set.
